What we do

How does WashingtonFirst protect my personal information?

To protect your personal information from unauthorized access and use, we use security measures that comply with federal law. These measures include computer safeguards and secured files and buildings. Each employee is required to follow our Company's "Code of Ethics," which states that all customer information is considered private and privileged.

How does WashingtonFirst collect my personal information?

We collect your personal information, for example, when you:

- Open an account or apply for a loan;
- Pay your bills or make a wire transfer;
- Make deposits or withdrawals from your account.

We also collect your personal information from others, such as credit bureaus, affiliates, or other companies.

Why can't I limit all sharing?

Federal law gives you the right to limit only

- Sharing for affiliates' everyday business purposes – information about your creditworthiness
- Affiliates from using your information to market to you
- Sharing for nonaffiliates to market to you

State laws and individual companies may give you additional rights to limit sharing.

What happens when I limit sharing for an account I hold jointly with someone else?

Your choices will apply to everyone on your account.
